AT A GLANCE

What Goldsmith is

Goldsmith trades gold (XAU/USD) on your own Vantage account, automatically, using two rules-based systems.

The Anvil

Patient. About 24 trades a month, held for hours, risking 1.5% of your balance each time. It aims to win more than it risks.

The Hammer

Fast. About 270 trades a month, closed within minutes, risking 0.5% each time. It earns through volume.

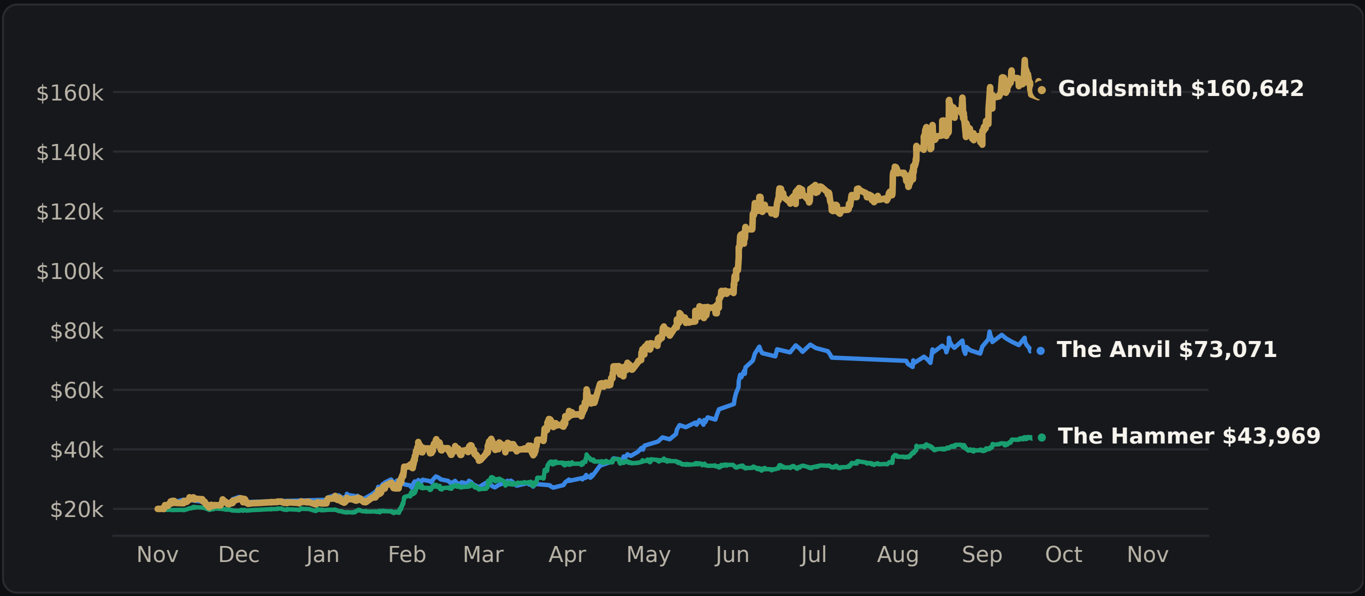
The two rarely struggle at the same time. In eleven months, The Anvil and The Hammer never lost money in the same month. When one had a losing month, the other made money.

$20,000 → $160,642	+703%	10 of 11	-16.7%
Balance over 11 months	Total return with compounding	Months in profit	Deepest fall from a high

> These figures show how Goldsmith would have performed on Vantage's own recorded prices and spreads from 1 November 2025 to 23 September 2026. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Trading gold on leverage is high risk, and you can lose some or all of your deposit.

PERFORMANCE

Eleven months, month by month



Account balance from $20,000. Thin lines: each system alone. Gold line: Goldsmith, both systems on one account.

Profit Loss Top figure: return that month. Lower figure: dollars.

Good weeks and bad weeks. Goldsmith made money in 34 of 47 weeks. The best week added +24.8% and the worst took away -9.2%. The deepest fall, in February 2026, took the account 16.7% below its high before it recovered. Expect losing weeks.

Compounding. Each trade is sized from your balance at the time, so gains build on gains. The same trades sized from a fixed $20,000 would have ended at $63,981 instead of $160,642. It works both ways: a bigger balance also means bigger dollar losses on losing trades.

CAPITAL

How much you need

The minimum is $1,000. We recommend $2,000 or more.

Goldsmith sizes each trade to your balance, but your broker's smallest trade size is 0.01 lots and each trade is rounded down to the nearest 0.01. A small account sits on that floor: at $1,000 most trades are 0.01 lots, and at $2,000 they start around 0.02 to 0.04. So a small account takes a little less risk than ours on most trades and grows more slowly at first. As the balance grows, trade sizes rise and it catches up.

Starting balance	What happens	Deepest fall	Return after 11 months
$500	On 0.01 lots for about five months, which is too big for it on some trades Not accepted	-32.7%	+498%
$1,000 MINIMUM	Mostly 0.01 lots until spring, then sizes grow with the balance	-14.2%	+453%
$2,000 RECOMMENDED	Starts on about 0.02 to 0.04 lots and grows from there	-14.1%	+518%
$5,000	Close to our figures	-16.3%	+654%
$20,000	Our figures in this paper	-16.7%	+703%

Why the returns differ. Every row uses the same 3,172 trades. Our figures size each trade exactly. A real account rounds each trade down to the nearest 0.01 lots, so most trades are slightly smaller than ours. Across 3,172 trades that adds up: a real account finishes behind our figures, and the smaller the account, the bigger the gap. The same effect makes its deepest fall a little smaller.

BOOST YOUR BALANCE

Claim the Vantage deposit bonus. Tap Promotions and opt in before you deposit.

New to Vantage? You get a bonus on your first-ever deposit. Example, using the offer on Vantage's website in September 2026 (150% + 25%): deposit $1,000 and Vantage adds $1,500 of bonus credit, so you start with a $2,500 trading balance. Money above your first $1,000, and later deposits, earn 25%.

Already with Vantage? The first-deposit rate is for new clients only. New deposits earn a smaller bonus, currently 25% under this offer.

Deposit first and you can lose the bonus. The exact percentage depends on your country and changes over time, so check your Promotions tab before you fund. The bonus is trading credit: you cannot withdraw it, and a withdrawal removes a matching share of it. Profits you make are yours to withdraw. Vantage's terms apply and the offer is not available in every country.

Each row replays the same 3,172 trades on an account of that size, with every trade rounded down to the nearest 0.01 lots, the way a real account is. The figures do not include any deposit bonus. COST AND PROTECTION

Always free

No subscription, no performance fee and no share of your profits. That will not change.

You always pay your broker a fee on each trade, through the spread and on some accounts a commission, the same as trading on your own. When you join through our link, the broker pays us a small rebate from its side. It never comes out of your deposit or your profits.

How your money is protected

- Every trade risks a fixed slice of your balance: 1.5% for The Anvil, 0.5% for The Hammer. Neither system raises its size to chase a loss.
- Every trade opens with a stop loss already placed at the broker.
- The Anvil stops for the rest of the month once that month is down 5%.
- Your money stays in your own account, in your name. We get trading access only and cannot withdraw a cent.

5. Deposit	Fund by bank transfer or card: at least $1,000, ideally $2,000 or more, and only money you can afford to put at risk. Vantage may refuse the bonus on e-wallet and crypto deposits. It pays withdrawals back through the method you deposited with, so pick one you are happy to be paid back to.
6. Message us	Message us on WhatsApp at +44 7590 422083 once your account is funded. We connect Goldsmith to your account securely and confirm when you are live. You can watch every trade in your own MT4 or MT5 app, and only you can withdraw.

Risks. Figures show how Goldsmith would have traded on Vantage's recorded prices from November 2025 to September 2026 and do not predict the future. Both systems trade gold only; most of the gain came in January to June 2026, when gold moved unusually hard. Leverage magnifies gains and losses, and you can lose some or all of your deposit. Spreads, slippage and outages can leave your results below ours. Smith Block Markets does not give financial advice. Not offered to US persons. Promotions are set by Vantage and are not available in every country.
