TWO GOLD SYSTEMS. ONE ACCOUNT.

Discipline, engineered.

What Goldsmith does, how it performed across eleven months of real Vantage market data, and how you can use it for free.

White paper · September 2026

1 November 2025 to 23 September 2026

About these results

We ran Goldsmith on Vantage's own recorded market data. The prices and spreads come from Vantage's live trading server, from 1 November 2025 to 23 September 2026. The results show how Goldsmith would have performed on a Vantage account over those eleven months.

Past performance does not guarantee future results. Trading gold on leverage carries a high risk of losing money, and you can lose some or all of your deposit. Only trade money you can afford to lose. Nothing in this paper is financial advice.

We show the losing months, the losing weeks and the deepest fall next to the winning ones. Read them all before you decide.

Rules over feelings. Your money stays yours.

Smith Block Markets builds trading systems that follow fixed rules, and we give them to you for free.

Most people who trade on their own lose money. Fear makes you close a good trade early. Hope makes you hold a bad one far too long, and after a long day you miss the move you spent hours waiting for. Goldsmith has none of those problems. It trades at 3am the same way it trades at 3pm, sizes every position as a fixed slice of your account, and stops when its limits tell it to.

We built it so you get that discipline in your own account without paying for it. Your money stays in your name at the broker, and only you can withdraw it. We never hold your funds.

You deserve to see the whole record before you decide. This paper lists every trade across eleven months, the losing months and worst weeks included.

What we promise

Rules - based trading, open results and no fee of any kind from us.

What we cannot promise

Profit. Goldsmith had losing weeks and losing months, and it will have more.

What stays private

The exact trading rules. They are our intellectual property. This paper tells you what each system does and how it behaves. It does not tell you how it decides.

What Goldsmith is

Goldsmith runs two separate systems on one account. Both trade gold against the US dollar (XAU/USD), and each hunts for a different kind of move at a different speed.

SYSTEM ONE

The Anvil

The Anvil is patient. It waits for one specific kind of setup, trades around 24 times a month, and aims to win more than it risks each time.

Trades	253 in eleven months
Risk per trade	1.5% of the account
Typical hold	A few hours
Winning trades	42%
Average win	+3.4% of the account
Average loss	-1.5% of the account
Monthly limit	Stops for the month once the month is down 5%

SYSTEM TWO

The Hammer

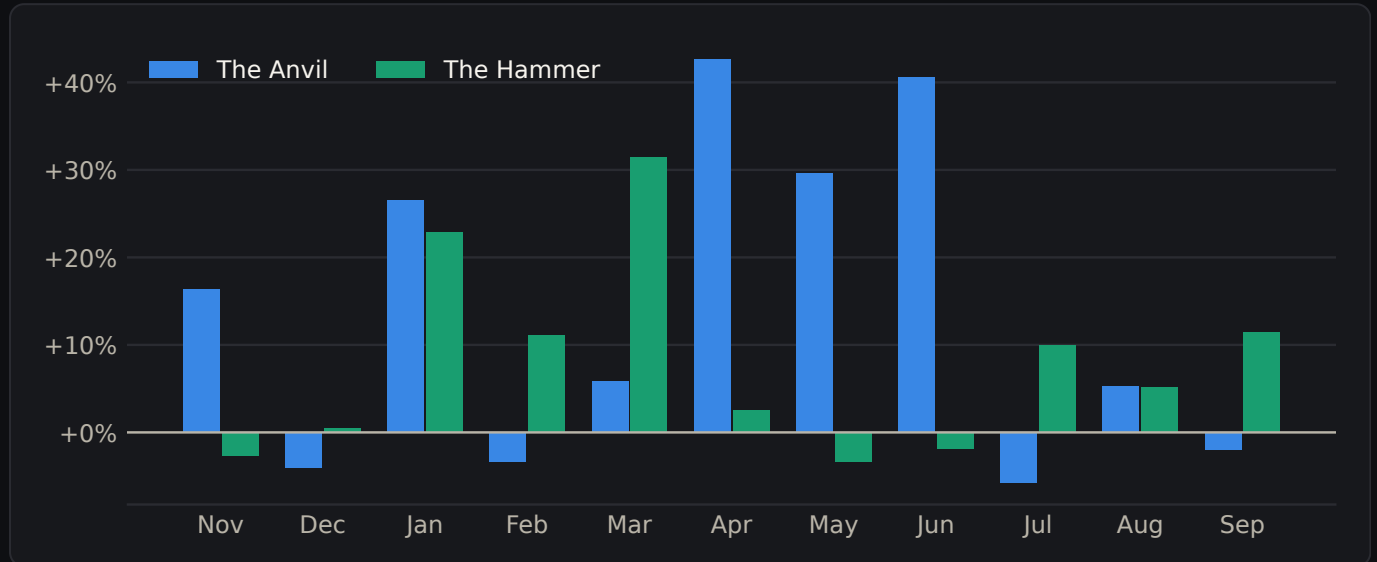

The Hammer is fast. It trades short, sharp moves in either direction, around 270 times a month, and banks small gains within minutes.

Trades	2,919 in eleven months
Risk per trade	0.5% of the account
Typical hold	Under two minutes
Winning trades	56%
Average win	+0.32% of the account
Average loss	-0.35% of the account
Direction	Buys and sells, close to half each

The Anvil loses more trades than it wins and still makes money, because its average win is more than twice its average loss. The Hammer wins just over half its trades with wins and losses of similar size, and earns through volume.

Two rhythms, one account

In eleven months, The Anvil and The Hammer never lost money in the same month. When one had a bad month, the other made money.

Each system's return per month, as a percentage of its own account. Blue: The Anvil. Green: The Hammer.

Their monthly results had a correlation of -0.30 . A negative number means the two tend to move in opposite directions: when The Anvil struggled, The Hammer tended to do well, and the other way round. Running both smooths the ride.

- The Hammer made most of its gains from January to March, when gold swung hardest.
- The Anvil made most of its gains from April to June.
- From July to September The Anvil dipped slightly and The Hammer carried the account.
- Both systems size every trade from the same balance, so a win in either one lifts the size of the next trade in both.

Both systems trade gold only. They spread risk across style and timing, not across markets, so a long, quiet gold market would slow both of them at once.

1.33Profit factor: dollars won

Account balance over eleven months. The thin lines show each system alone on a $20,000 account. The gold line shows Goldsmith, both systems running together on one $20,000 account.

On its own $20,000 account, The Anvil finished at $73,071 and The Hammer at $43,969. Sharing one $20,000 account, Goldsmith finished at $160,642. Every win in either system raised the size of every later trade in both.

How compounding grows the account

Goldsmith risks a percentage of your balance on each trade. When your balance grows, your trades grow with it. When it falls, they shrink.

The same 3,172 trades sized two ways. Gold line: each trade sized from the balance at the time (compounding). Grey dashed line: each trade sized from the starting $20,000.

Size every trade from the starting $20,000 and the account ends at $63,981. Size each one from the balance at the time and it ends at $160,642. The same wins and the same losses produce an extra $96,661 through compounding alone.

An example

At 1.5% risk on $20,000, The Anvil risks $300 on a trade. Once the account reaches $40,000, the same trade risks $600, and a win pays twice as much.

It works in both directions

A loss at $40,000 costs twice the dollars of a loss at $20,000. You can see this in the chart: the dips grow in dollars as the balance grows.

How it protects you

After a loss your balance is smaller, so your next trade is smaller too. Each loss takes a slice of what is left, which slows a losing streak down.

Month by month

Goldsmith made money in 10 of 11 months. Each system on its own had more losing months than the two together.

Profit Loss Deeper colour means a bigger move. Top figure: return that month. Lower figure: dollars.

- Best month: January 2026 (+55%).
- Worst month: December 2025 (-3.7%).
- Where the money came from: January to June brought most of the dollar gain, while gold swung between roughly $4,000 and $5,600. From July to September gold calmed down, and the account still grew +25.3% over those three months, led by The Hammer.

Compounding makes the dollar figures larger later in the year. Compare months by percentage.

Deepest fall from a high

How far the account sat below its last high at each point. Zero means a new high.

The deepest fall ran from 11 February to 27 February 2026. The account dropped from $43,424 to $36,179, a fall of $7,245 or 16.7%, and then recovered. If a fall like that would make you switch the system off, start with a smaller amount.

Live trading against the data

We run Goldsmith live and compare every live trade against the same days in our data.

From 18 September 2026, once The Anvil's current settings were live, it took five live trades. They were the same five trades as the data, at the same entry prices to the cent on four of them and within 16 cents on the fifth. Live finished -$544.33 over those days. The data finished -$542.09, a gap of $2.24.

Two small things caused the gap. The live account was slightly smaller, so its lot sizes came out one or two steps lower. And the live market filled some stops a few cents worse.

What this shows	Live Goldsmith follows the same rules as the data. Entries, exits and sizes line up.
What it cannot show yet	Five trades prove the machinery. They cannot tell you about long-run profit.
Ongoing	We record every live trade and keep comparing live against the data as the record grows.

How we manage risk

Fixed risk per trade	The Anvil risks 1.5% of the balance on each trade. The Hammer risks 0.5%. Neither one raises its size to win back a loss.
Monthly loss limit	The Anvil stops for the rest of the month once that month is down 5%.
A stop on every trade	Each position opens with its stop loss already placed at the broker. The stop still works if our server goes offline.
Remote off switch	We can pause The Anvil from our control panel at any time, for example before major news.
Monitoring	We watch both systems around the clock from our own dashboard. We notice a system that goes quiet.
Your money, your name	Your funds stay in your own account at the broker. We get trading access and nothing more. Withdrawals go only to your own verified account.

Combined exposure. When both systems hold a trade at the same moment, about 2% of your account is at risk. Both trade gold, so one sharp gold move can hit both. The 16.7% fall shown in section 07 includes moments like this.

Always free

Goldsmith costs you nothing. We charge no subscription, no performance fee and no share of your profits, and that will not change.

You will always pay your broker a fee on each trade. Brokers charge through the spread, the small gap between the buying and selling price, and on some accounts through a commission as well. You would pay the same trading on your own, and that money goes to the broker.

When you open your account through our link, the broker pays us a small rebate per lot traded from its own side. It never comes out of your deposit or your profits.

Subscription	None
Performance fee	None
Share of profits	None
Set-up fee	None
Broker trading costs	Yes: the spread, and commission on some accounts, paid to the broker as on any trading account

How much you need

The minimum is $1,000. We recommend $2,000 or more.

Goldsmith sizes each trade to your balance, but your broker's smallest trade size is 0.01 lots and each trade is rounded down to the nearest 0.01. A small account sits on that floor: at $1,000 most trades are 0.01 lots, and at $2,000 they start around 0.02 to 0.04. So a small account takes a little less risk than ours on most trades and grows more slowly at first. As the balance grows, trade sizes rise and it catches up.

Starting balance	What happens	Deepest fall	Return after 11 months
$500	On 0.01 lots for about five months, which is too big for it on some trades Not accepted	- 32.7%	+498%
$1,000 MINIMUM	Mostly 0.01 lots until spring, then sizes grow with the balance	- 14.2%	+453%
$2,000 RECOMMENDED	Starts on about 0.02 to 0.04 lots and grows from there	- 14.1%	+518%
$5,000	Close to our figures	- 16.3%	+654%
$20,000	Our figures in this paper	- 16.7%	+703%

Why the returns differ. Every row uses the same 3,172 trades. Our figures size each trade exactly. A real account rounds each trade down to the nearest 0.01 lots, so most trades are slightly smaller than ours. Across 3,172 trades that adds up: a real account finishes behind our figures, and the smaller the account, the bigger the gap. The same effect makes its deepest fall a little smaller.

BOOST YOUR BALANCE

Claim the Vantage deposit bonus. Tap Promotions and opt in before you deposit.

New to Vantage? You get a bonus on your first-ever deposit. Example, using the offer on Vantage's website in September 2026 (150% + 25%): deposit $1,000 and Vantage adds $1,500 of bonus credit, so you start with a $2,500 trading balance. Money above your first $1,000, and later deposits, earn 25%.

Already with Vantage? The first-deposit rate is for new clients only. New deposits earn a smaller bonus, currently 25% under this offer.

Deposit first and you can lose the bonus. The exact percentage depends on your country and changes over time, so check your Promotions tab before you fund. The bonus is trading credit: you cannot withdraw it, and a withdrawal removes a matching share of it. Profits you make are yours to withdraw. Vantage's terms apply and the offer is not available in every country.

Risks

- Past performance. The figures show how Goldsmith would have traded on Vantage's recorded prices from November 2025 to September 2026. Future months can look very different.
- One market. Both systems trade gold only. Most of the dollar gain came from January to June 2026, when gold moved unusually hard. Quieter markets can mean smaller gains, or losses.
- Losses. Goldsmith fell 16.7% from a high and lost money in 13 weeks. Future falls can go deeper.
- Compounding. A bigger balance means bigger dollar losses on losing trades.
- Execution. Wider spreads, slippage, server outages and delays in placing trades can leave your results below ours.
- Leverage. Gold CFDs use leverage. Small price moves make large gains or losses against your deposit.
- Where you live. We do not offer Goldsmith to US persons. Rules on trading and on broker promotions differ by country, so check yours before you open an account.
- No advice. Smith Block Markets does not give personal financial advice. Decide for yourself, or ask a licensed adviser, whether trading suits you.
- Changes. We may change settings, pause either system or stop the service. We publish every settings change.
